THE MIRROR 1967

MARION A. DEAN

Headmistress

Dear Graduates of the Class of 1967,

As you get ready to leave your familiar senior desks at Barnard School and to enter upon your next new experience, I hope that you will do so with zest and joy and confidence. I hope too that, as you encounter new experiences, you will remember some of the classroom discussions we have had together on the nature of what it means "to be," to capture each fleeting moment in order to savor it, to give something of yourself to it, to make it something of your very own.

This is a fine art that you can practise every day of the week with friends and family, as you strive to capture the fleeting moment with dedication of mind, body and spirit toward your own special shining goal. Such endeavor will stand by you as you start college and continue on into careers, marriage and motherhood.

Once you start translating outer experience, you will begin to know the truth in Faust's meaningful message: "What you have inherited from your fathers, you must repossess in order to make it your own."

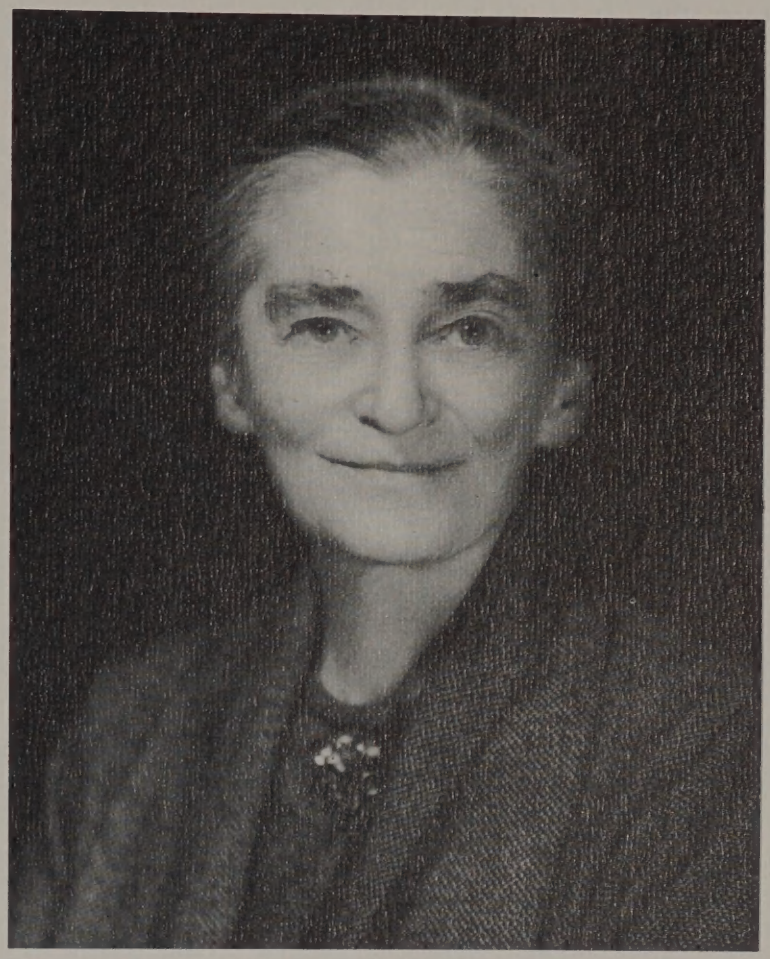
With affection and good wishes for the future,

Marion Alice Dean

INTRODUCTION

Throughout our years at Barnard, we have developed as individuals and as a group. Each of us represents a separate, distinct experience; and yet each one has absorbed ideas and attitudes from the teachers and girls who are a part of the Barnard Community. We have learned about man through the accuracy of his logic in mathematics, his victories and failures in history, his exploration in science, and his communication in language, art, and music. From each of these subjects we have taken a portion of wisdom. Our claim to this knowledge cannot be valid until we have struggled to understand its meanings, tested its principles, challenged its importance to our lives, and fought to preserve it. And so we, the Class of Sixty-Seven, present to you our Mirror, as a reflection of our inheritance from the past and our promise for the future.

MARION A. NOSSER



DEDICATION

We, the Class of Sixty-Seven, are proud to dedicate our yearbook to Miss Marion A. Nosser. She has helped to prepare us for the fulfillment of our future by giving us so much from the wealth of her past.

"The teacher . . . gives not of his wisdom but rather of his faith and his lovingness. If he is indeed wise, he does not bid you enter the house of his wisdom, but rather leads you to the threshold of your own mind."

SENIOR CLASS FAREWELL SONG

May, 1967

It's a time to remember
The years that we've spent here;
Though high school has ended,
Yet still we belong;
And our memories of Barnard
Will return evermore
Though a bright, unknown future has knocked at our door.

In our years here at Barnard
We've each gained a little;
We've learned and we've studied
And we've reached our goal.
We must soon leave your hallways,
Yet we know that it's true—
We will always remember our days here with you.

Next year with good fortune,
We all will be leading
The lives that we've dreamed of
And we've longed to know;
But today we remember
And we stop to recall
Our past years at Barnard while we look to the fall.

TRADITION

"What does one person give to another? He gives of himself, of the most precious he has, he gives of his life."

Erich Fromm

"You talk when you cease to be at peace with your thoughts."

Possessions

Tangible: Mine when I was very young,
Yours when I was older,
Ours now that I am grown.

Intangible: Yours when I was very young,
Ours when I was older,
Mine now that I am grown.

Stars

Stars are born in the sky:
They crowd the darkness like drops of rain upon a spider's web;
They flash and fall toward man, who opens his hand to catch them;
But the stars cannot be caught nor conquered;
They glisten with eternity and hold in their diaphanous light all of man's aspirations.

An Advantage

An unbroken progressive course.

No more

Monday morning navy blues,

Battered dirty saddle shoes,

Talk of Señora and Mrs. Jost,

While gobbling down the morning toast.

No more

Rushing for the bus

(My goodness, how we'll miss the fuss!)

No more

Lengthy conversations on the phone

Just as soon as you get home,

While we around you oft times lurk

Suggesting you get back to work.

No more

Barnard girls next fall —

My goodness, how we'll miss them all.
